

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS 2004
CALIFORNIAN JOURNAL OF HEALTH PROMOTION
Author Guidelines: <http://www.cjhp.org/>
November 29, 2003

The Californian Journal of Health Promotion is planning to publish two theme issues and two Special Issues in 2004:

"ALTERNATIVE LIFESTYLES" OF HEALTH EDUCATORS: "ADVENTURES OUTSIDE THE BOX" IN PROFESSIONAL TRAINING AND PRACTICE
VOLUME 2 ISSUE 2 (THEMED ISSUE -- JUNE 1, 2004)
Submission Deadline: March 1, 2004
Co-Editors: Dr. Karen Denard Goldman and Dr. Vincent Francisco

ELDER HEALTH AND HEALTH EDUCATION
VOLUME 2 ISSUE 3 (THEMED ISSUE -- SEPTEMBER 1, 2004)
Submission Deadline: June 1, 2004

OREGON, THE BEAVER STATE: HEALTH AND HEALTH EDUCATION VOLUME 2
SPECIAL ISSUE FALL 2004
Submission Deadline: July 1, 2004

LESBIAN, GAY, BISEXUAL, TRANSGENDER HEALTH AND HEALTH EDUCATION
VOLUME 2 SPECIAL ISSUE (CONTINUOUS)
Accepting Submissions: April 1 - September 1, 2004

In 2004, the CJHP would like to further push the boundaries of what are acceptable electronic forms of scholarly expression in health education. Scholarly expression is not two-dimensional. Authors are encouraged to submit multimedia presentations along with their manuscripts. For information about how to integrate photos, video, audio, PowerPoint presentations, and other forms of scholarly expression with traditional manuscripts, please contact Dr. Mark Tomita at e-mail: mtomita@csuchico.edu. Since there is no page limit to submissions, authors are encouraged to submit resources that may be useful to health education practitioners and academics. These resources, such as handouts, survey instruments, and other documents, may be included as appendices.

Although the CJHP focuses heavily on California health and health education practice, the journal accepts articles from outside of California. International and cross-cultural articles are always appreciated because of California's multicultural population.

VOLUME 2 ISSUE 2 (THEMED ISSUE -- JUNE 1, 2004)
"Alternative Lifestyles" Of Health Educators: "Adventures Outside The Box" In Professional Training And Practice
Submission Deadline: March 1, 2004
Co-Editors: Dr. Karen Denard Goldman and Dr. Vincent Francisco

The CJHP Editorial Board requests scholarly manuscripts and multimedia presentations about how health educators have integrated their knowledge of health education into other professions and how non-health education professionals have integrated health education into their professions (e.g., nursing and health education, social work and health education). Articles that reflect research, personal experience, and personal opinion from faculty, students, beginning, mid-career, and retired practitioners who have combined health education with other degrees, made career changes that have called for the use of health education skills, or applied health education to atypical situations/functions/work settings.

IMPORTANT NOTE FOR THIS ISSUE: The CJHP Editorial Board would like to ask all authors to include a PowerPoint presentation with their manuscripts for use in college professional preparation programs.

Please send all manuscripts and multimedia presentations to Dr. Karen Denard Goldman at e-mail kgoldman@dcas.nyc.gov. DO NOT send any materials for review to Dr. Mark Tomita. Questions regarding how to integrate multimedia presentations into manuscripts may be sent Dr. Tomita.
