

Letter to the Editor

Surrejoinder to Rejoinder by Norman A. Constantine and Carmen R. Nevarez to "Youth Health Services, Development Programs, and Teenage Birth Rates in 55 California Cities"

Mike Males

University of California, Santa Cruz

© 2007 Californian Journal of Health Promotion. All rights reserved.

Likewise, I urge readers to carefully read the original article, in which they will find that "city population size" is explicitly listed in Table 1 (page 50) as a variable examined, and that "city population size" is explicitly cited in the article text (page 50) as a component of the multiple regression analysis. Table 3 then reports only those "variables showing significant associations" (page 51). Please further note that at no time did Drs. Constantine or Nevarez ever contact me for a copy of the regression analysis showing variables included and results, which would have cleared up this entire matter.

Respectfully,

Mike Males
Santa Cruz, CA